

GERMANS REACH RAILWAY BETWEEN VILNA AND DVINSK

Von Hindenburg's Troops Set Foot on Important Petrograd Line in North and May Compel a Further Russian Retreat.

Teutonic Center Marches Toward Pinsk While Austrians Are Striving Hard to Get to Rovno.

Germans Admit Falling Back Near Tarnopol in Galicia, Where Muscovite Offensive Continues.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg's army has at last set foot on the Petrograd-Pinsk railway, between Vilna and Dvinsk. The whole Austro-German force has been striving to gain this railway since the fall of the Polish front. The offensive which began toward the end of last week was carried on from three directions upon Dvinsk and the railway on the western side of the town, while farther north the invaders advanced toward Minsk. The Russians, before superior forces supplied with the usual mass of artillery, were on Sunday forced back to the lake district, which the railway penetrates and now are making a stand there.

Simultaneously the Germans pushed their way eastward toward Blonin and Pinsk, both of which are on roads which split the main railway line, while the Austrians with whom there are many German units, are fighting hard to reach Rovno, the southern terminus of the line.

Further Retreat Possible. With this railway partly in the hands of the Germans, it is probable that a further retreat, although their offensive in Galicia, which continues, may save them by compelling the Germans to send reinforcements to this region.

There is now no doubt of Russian success in this district as, following the Austrian admission of their retreat, the Germans announce that, after retreating Russian attacks, they occupied a favorable position situated some kilometers west of our former position.

The conditions under which the troops are fighting in the marshy country in the center of the southern end of the line are described by German correspondents as most terrible. The country is virtually all under water, through which the Austro-Germans have to advance against well prepared Russian positions.

On the eastern bank of the Beres, from which the Russians are delivering their counter attacks, is a veritable fortress, from which the Russians emerge every time their opponents approach, taking heavy toll of them in killed, wounded and prisoners. According to the Russian accounts, nearly 30,000 prisoners have been taken in the fighting along this river.

The operations in the West, are marked by the continuance of the great artillery battle from Belgium to the Argonne. A duel between guns of all calibers along the entire front now has been going on for nearly three weeks. Even during the week and has been particularly violent around Arras, in the Argonne and Champagne. At several points the German infantry, after a heavy bombardment, attempted to storm the advanced trenches of the allies, but the French reports say these attacks all failed.

The French War Office says today that the activity of artillery continues in some places, with great violence. Fighting of a somewhat similar character is proceeding along the Austro-Italian front.

French Aerial Squadrons Drop Bombs on Three German Towns. PARIS, Sept. 14.—The War Office announces that the results of the recent bombardment of Lunenburg, Colmar and Colmar by hostile aeroplanes, a squadron of 15 aeroplanes flew over the town of Treves (in Germany), 15 miles northwest of Nancy Monday morning, dropping about a hundred shells. The explosion and the bank of the empire were undoubtedly reached. The same squadron, after having returned to its base in the afternoon, dropped 50 shells on the station at Demmay and on Berncourt.

Other aeroplanes bombed from a low altitude the stations at Donauwelling, on the Danube, and Marbach, in one region where the movements of troops was reported the effect of our troops against the objects aimed at was established, including a train in transit, which was obliged to stop.

Marbach is in Germany, 120 miles east of Mulfort, France, and Donauwelling is 15 miles northeast of Belfort.

Zepplins Again Visit English Coast. LONDON, Sept. 14.—Another German air raid was made over the east coast of England last night, but as far as appears there were no casualties and no damage was done. A Zepplin was the raiding aircraft, according to the official announcement, which reads:

Zepplin visited the east coast of England last night. Bombs were dropped. No damage was done. The Zepplin was in action for 20 minutes. It was reported that there were no casualties and no damage was done.

RUSSANS AROUSED OVER MUNITION FAILURE; REVOLT AFTER THE WAR PREDICTED

German Influence in Government and Supply Officials Blamed for Tragic Retreat of Brave Army; Overcoming Evils.

Correspondence of the Associated Press. STOCKHOLM, Aug. 16.—The fall of Warsaw and the failure of the Russian defensive campaign to prevent the German invasion of Poland have had much more profound effect upon Russian national feeling than is admitted in dispatches from Petrograd.

The feeling which has shaken this constitutionally averse and unemotional country from one end to the other is not one of discouragement or submission. It has not moved anyone to talk of ultimate defeat or the possibility of Russia's undertaking peace negotiations with Germany. Russia's reaction is one of intense indignation at the Government officials who have been responsible for her tragic shortage of ammunition.

The full tragedy of this shortage only has been observed by the men at the front, who, with empty gun saloons, have helplessly faced the concentrated artillery attacks of the enemy and have watched the assured progress of the German and Austrian trench builders as they moved forward.

Russia's Best Troops Helpless. These soldiers were determined, experienced fighters, Russia's best troops, acquitting themselves with unusual bravery in every bayonet action, but crippled and finally demoralized by insufficient ammunition and the knowledge that it was this lack of ammunition that ordered their retreat from one position to another.

The most rigidly censored press in the world and a national and inherent inhibition of free comment of any sort have failed to check the avalanche of criticism and the accusations which have been made against the Government officials who are held responsible.

For once, expression of opinion in Russia has become free and unimpeded. No attempt is made to conceal this reproach against the methods of the bureaucrats, who are accused of having crippled Russia's fighting strength and materially delayed the ending of the war.

It is not expressed alone by men of revolutionary inclinations or opposition tendencies, nor is it uttered in hushed voices in secret places, but is loudly and clamorously current everywhere among men of all parties and classes.

On the whole of the Duma said to an American correspondent in Petrograd a few days ago:

"The Russian people are on the threshold of a great awakening. Everyone in Russia, officers, civilians and menials know why Russia has been compelled to surrender a large part of her territory. They know they have good officers and that the fighting strength and spirit of the Russian troops are as high as at the beginning of the war.

"They also know that they have been forced to retreat or stand helpless at the mercy of the fire of the German artillery, while their own guns have had only a few rounds of ammunition that had been sparingly used without destroying the peculiar methods of the purchasing commissions, whose business it is to supply them with ammunition, they at least realize that their Government is at fault, that they have been sent into trenches impossible to defend and that tens of thousands of their comrades now lie dead as a result of the delay in the delivery of ammunition.

"In my opinion, in this present awakening of the army and the people to the criminal neglect and lack of co-operation of their officials, there are the germs of the most serious revolution Russian has ever known—a revolution supported by the army. This revolution will come as soon as the war is over.

Not an Atom of Disloyalty. In this protest, which is being so bitterly expressed in Russia, there is not an atom of disloyalty. It is, in fact, a very high expression of a loyalty which is resentful that the purpose of the nation is being frustrated and the changes of history weakened by some of its own officials.

A common view is that the evil is accounted for by the residue of German influence which still exists in the various departments of the Government. It was a sort of revolt against this persistent German element in Russia that caused the terrible Moscow riots of two months ago. When the order expelling all Germans from the city was not enforced by the city authorities, the mob decided to take the matter in its own hands and expel them forcibly by destroying their homes, business and property. Evidence of the same spirit of protest has appeared in a milder form in Petrograd, where numerous meetings denouncing officials were broken up by the police, and where Russian officials were defeating attempts of the army to win the war and that, while they continued in power victory was impossible.

It is the opinion of most military observers that, with a full supply of ammunition, the Lublin-Chelm line and the Russian positions along the Vistula could have been effectively defended. Russian staff officers even go so far as to say that if the German advance could have been delayed a week longer sufficient ammunition would have arrived to turn the tide and save the Vistula line from German possession.

Officers Describe Tragedy. Officers who helped to conduct the retreat of the Russians from position to position, from one line of trenches to another, swept away by German fire, describe vividly the tragedy of fighting with insufficient ammunition.

CIVIC BODIES TO DECIDE POLICY ON CITY BOND ISSUE

150 Organizations to Take Referendum Vote on Items to Be Included.

Mayor Kiel and 100 delegates, composing the Mayor's Conference, decided last night to resort to the old town hall meeting plan to determine whether a special election for the submission of a general bond issue should be arranged at a cost of $20,000.

The conference agreed that a referendum of the 150 organizations participating in the Mayor's Conference, should decide the policy of the administration. A committee of three, consisting of Luther Ely Smith, an attorney, Dr. B. W. Clarke, president of the West End Business Men's Association, and George R. Hansen of the Meramec School Patrons' Association, was appointed to prepare a report on membership on what items should be included in a general bond issue of about $100,000.

The improvement of River des Peres to prevent a recurrence of floods, is to be the principal item of the proposed issue, and the committee was instructed to consider also bonds for the establishment of publicly owned utilities.

Unemployment Problem. Mayor Kiel was authorized also to appoint a committee of 25 to consider the problem of unemployment and the housing of homeless this winter.

In addressing the conference, the Mayor said he was inclined to think that a bond issue of $20,000 for the inclosing of River des Peres, would be popular throughout the city because the residents of other sections have had to bear the entire cost under special taxation of the $20,000,000 Mill Creek sewer, and the Harlem Creek and Rocky Branch sewers. These taxpayers will argue that a special tax be levied against those in the River des Peres district, instead of making the entire city pay by a bond issue, the Mayor said.

The Mayor said it would cost upward of $50,000 to conduct a special election, and he would be opposed to it unless a referendum among all the civic and business organizations showed a decided sentiment in favor of a bond issue.

Von Hoffmanman Suggests Plan. The conference adjourned subject to the call of the Mayor. The report of the committee of three will be circulated among the organizations before a referendum vote is taken.

called to this statement of Harvey's, dissented emphatically. He said that the Supreme Court has condemned the practice, by policemen or detectives, of letting a crime be committed in their presence, with the possibility that it might be done, merely to get evidence. If the detective had permitted the "torches" to set fire to the Christen plant, Alender said, explosions and injuries to firemen might have resulted, and he would have considered himself to blame.

He said the fact that two of the men went inside the factory, and asked Christen if the coast was clear, together with the testimony of Christen and Baker, should be conclusive evidence against the four.

The inference proceeding which the Berach agency brought against the police yesterday has been dropped, and the removal of documents from the office was permitted after which the

COLOGNE GAZETTE CALLS 'EXPOSURES' IN U. S. HARMLESS

Says New York World's Revelations of German Plotting Here Are "Blank Cartridges."

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the New York World. (Copyright, 1915, by News Pub. Co.) LONDON, Sept. 14.—The Cologne Gazette, in a three-column front page article, with a page-wide headline, reading "Mr. Pulitzer's Blank Cartridge," on Friday last deals with the New York World's revelations of alleged German plotting in the United States. Before reproducing a very carefully summarized summary of the World's exposures, the Gazette publishes the following from its Washington correspondent, under date of Aug. 18.

He attacks the World as "a purveyor of stolen goods, and expresses the hope that the Pulitzer College of Journalism at Columbia University will not add these 'revelations' to its text-books, or inculcate in the young men studying journalism there the practices and ethics whereby the World secured possession of its alleged facts and figures.

"The whole excitement has ended in smoke. It was a tempest in a teapot, and the only good it did was to show thinking people to what shameless treatment Germany is exposed. "Pulitzer shells and stink bombs can change nothing in that respect."

guard of detectives around the office was made less compact. When asked whether any promises of immunity had been made to Baker, he said no such promise had been made. He added that Baker was a young man (he is 26) and was the tool of older men and that it had frequently happened in the past that persons who aided the state, and who, confessing their own guilt, threw themselves on the mercy of the Court, obtained leniency.

This was the attitude which Circuit Attorney Folk took during the booddy investigations of 1913 year ago, when he used a number of members of the House and Delegates as witnesses against their former accomplices in booddy.

One of those who refused, at that time, to turn State's evidence, and who went to the penitentiary, was the late Edmund Berach, brother of the Berach now under arrest in the green case.

Berach and Baker met yesterday afternoon in a corridor of the Municipal Courts Building, and Baker nodded and smiled at his former employer. Berach ignored Baker, and looked straight ahead.

Detective Keane says he has learned, in investigating Berach's dealings, that Berach did an adjusting business, as well as an insurance business, and thus was enabled to adjust some of the claims which companies represented by him had to settle.

GILMORE TOLD OF BEING THREATENED. An investigation by the police had been under way since the Gilmore-Bonfigli Decorating Co.'s store was destroyed by fire on Saturday afternoon, July 11. This fire apparently started with an explosion in the basement which shattered all the windows.

A moment after the explosion a short, swarthy man without a hat was seen running from the rear of the building. His neck was cut and he stopped at a drugstore near the burning building and asked that the wound be dressed. When he was advised to visit one of several doctors in the Lister Building across the street he ran out of the store, saying he would have his injury treated by his own physician.

Two women were in an automobile which stood in front of a natatorium near the burning building.

PNEUMONIA KILLED MAN WHO FELL 107 FEET INTO QUARRY

Postmortem Examination Shows No Injury That Could Have Caused Death.

The Coroner and Dr. Daniel Hochdexter, post-mortem physician, were puzzled today by the strange case of Louis Bauer, 25 years old, 1200 Winnebago street, a laborer who fell 107 feet to his death in a quarry at Main and Gasconade streets, yesterday.

An autopsy disclosed that Bauer died of lobar pneumonia and that the only injury he received from his fall was a bruise of the right hand, probably received as he hung to the face of a cliff. The man dropped into four feet of water, which probably broke the force of the fall.

The Coroner's verdict was that Bauer came to his death from lobar pneumonia without medical attention. Although he died almost instantly, neither drowning nor physical injury appeared to have been the cause.

near the drugstore. The injured man persuaded them to take him in the machine and drive east with him. It was not believed at the time that the women knew him, but it was thought that they complied with his request because they believed he was seriously hurt and needed medical attention.

Little Randall, a boxing instructor, who visited the Circuit Attorney's office today, is employed as a guard at the natatorium. He was attracted by the explosion and a short time afterward he saw the drugist, Remington, walking along the street with his hand on the shoulder of the hapless, bleeding man. Both he and the drugist are agreed that that man bore a striking resemblance to the newspaper photographs of Milner.

Circuit Attorney Harvey subpoenaed Randall to appear before the grand jury tomorrow. Randall has not seen Milner since his arrest, but he will have an opportunity to see him in the grand jury ante-room before testifying.

After the fire Gilmore said he believed the fire had some connection with a "black hand" letter which he received Jan. 1. The writer of this letter, he said, threatened to blow up Gilmore's "dam shack." Gilmore said he believed the writer of the letter was a discharged employee.

The explosion which preceded the fire was so violent that broken glass was scattered in the alley 50 feet from the building and was showered in the yard of the Eugene Field School across the street.

30,000 Persons Denounce Proposed British Loan at German Day Meeting

BALTIMORE, Sept. 14.—The closing exercises last night of the fifteenth annual German day celebration at a suburban resort, a resolution denouncing England was adopted by more than 30,000 persons and unanimously adopted.

The gathering, which was under the auspices of the Independent Citizens' Union of Maryland, was addressed by Dr. C. J. Haxman of Philadelphia, president of the National German-American Alliance, who introduced the resolution. Copies will be forwarded to President Wilson and Secretary of State Lansing.

The resolution declares in substance that a "refugee" is not being formulated to rob the American people of their savings deposited in banks for the development of American industries and to hand these funds over to England to enable her to continue the war, to control the commerce of the world for all time.

"Be it resolved," the resolution reads, "that we 30,000 true American citizens today assembled to observe the 101st anniversary of the American victory over the British at Baltimore, do solemnly declare our abhorrence of the unpatriotic and pro-British scheme; and we earnestly call upon the President of the United States and the Secretary of State to thwart this evil conspiracy."

of which would be paid all bills for exports to Great Britain and France and probably Russia. To fix the amount of this loan as nearly a billion dollars as possible. The commission itself declined positively to discuss the report that it was its plan, Lord Rother, its chairman, in the only statement he has made since he landed here, did not refer to it, but confined his remarks to a general review of the situation as he saw it and to a recital of the reasons why an adjustment of the present de-normalized foreign exchange market was desirable.

In case the commission should fall in its plan, it was said, wholesale curtailment of American exports would ensue. There is nothing which Great Britain and France buy here, it was said, that they could not obtain elsewhere, excepting munitions of war. These they were prepared to pay for in gold.

GERMANS ARRANGE TO BUY INTEREST IN NEW YORK PAPER

Dr. Hugo Schweitzer of Printers and Publishers' Association, Inc., Announces Plan for Use of $200,000 Subscribed by 35,000 Persons for Publicity.

EFFORTS TO RAISE $2,000,000 FAILED

Irish-American, Suspended New York Publication, Said to Have Been Acquired to Be Run as a German Organ.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The World today says that confirmation of its disclosures regarding the efforts of German officials and their sympathizers to subsidize newspapers and influence public sentiment in the United States is provided by the story of two undertakings of this character.

One of the projects now being promoted by Dr. Hugo Schweitzer, Henry Weissman and other pro-German agitators to establish or acquire a daily newspaper in New York City to be devoted to the exploitation of German interests. Dr. Schweitzer figured in correspondence presented by The World three weeks ago as having negotiated for the German Government with Thomas A. Edison for a contract for $1,000,000 worth of explosives, though he asserts it is to be devoted entirely to sanitary purposes. Weissman had made many bitter attacks on President Wilson.

In addition to buying supplies for the German Government as was disclosed by The World, Dr. Schweitzer has been promoting a publicity campaign. Under the name of the Printers and Publishers' Association, Inc., incorporated, Dr. Schweitzer, as president has been soliciting popular subscriptions for the purpose of establishing a newspaper in this city. On July 24 the Doctor issued a circular inviting subscriptions for $200,000, in which $100,000 was to be non-cumulative preferred stock and $100,000 common stock. The value of each share was $5.

New Money Was to Be Returned. The circular contained this provision for the liquidation of the subscriptions in case the plan was abandoned: "If for any reason our plans do not mature, then such monies deposited with said Columbia Trust Co. shall be returned to subscribers after the payment of the necessary and proper expenses, not to exceed 5 per cent, of the deposits."

On the same day the Printers and Publishers' Association, Inc., issued a letter explanatory of its prospectus, in which it said: "Subscriptions of about $200,000 have been received, representing a large number of subscribers and prospective readers of our proposed newspaper."

The World says it has information which "justifies" the statement that there were a great many subscribers to the proposed plan, one estimate being as high as $500,000. That individual subscriptions were small in amount, however, is indicated by another circular issued by the Printers and Publishers' Association, Inc., and signed by Dr. Schweitzer on Aug. 28 last. This document virtually admits the failure of the first project to raise $200,000 and proposes the acceptance by the subscribers of a modified plan with a capital of $500,000. It is understood that approximately $300,000 was raised.

Plan to Purchase Newspaper. The modification of the original plan is indicated to be the "purchase of an interest with others in a daily newspaper" instead of the establishment of a new enterprise of that sort.

When Dr. Edward Rumeley of the Evening Mail was asked by a reporter for the World if he were connected with the Printers and Publishers' Association, Inc., he replied: "I know nothing of its affairs."

"It is a fact that the money raised by this corporation was used in purchasing stock of the Evening Mail." "I have said all that I have to say." "Will you deny that it is a fact?" "My answer is the only answer I will make."

The recent suspension of the Irish-American, a weekly newspaper for years devoted to the promotion of Irish patriotic affairs, also has brought to light the fact that during the last six months of its existence it was conducted as a pro-German organ.

Girl Takes $110, Then Induces Youth to Elope

Cape Girardeau Couple Held Here.

As they stepped from a Frisco train holding hands, last night, Lottie Greer, 18 years old, and Oscar Vior Webb, 19, both of Cape Girardeau, Mo., were arrested at Union Station on a telegram from their home town asking that they be detained.

The message, signed Chief of Police Hudson of Cape Girardeau, said the girl had in her possession $110 of her father's money. When arrested she admitted taking the money. In Webb's pocket the police found $25. The girl said she had bought a new dress, $15 hat and a $2.50 suitcase and still had some small change left.

In the matron's room at police headquarters today she said that one of her reasons for leaving home was that she was afraid she would not be promoted at high school.

After taking her father's money, she asked Webb to elope. She said she understood that despite their ages they could be married at Madison, Ill. If they failed in this, she said, she planned to work in St. Louis and Webb planned to work as a conductor in Madison. They would continue to work and save their money until both were of age, and then they would be married, she said.

Webb and Miss Greer first met at a picnic near Cape Girardeau July 4 last.

NEW CITY PLAN COMMISSION TO PLAN 'A CITY USEFUL'

Members Represent Every Interest and Are Concerned in Practical Improvements of Municipality. An entire new personnel of the City Plan Commission, except city officials who are ex-officio members, was appointed today by the Public Service Board to succeed retiring members.

The new members are James C. Jones, Clarence H. Howard, Charles H. Diehl, Dwight F. Davis, Dr. W. B. Clarke, Louis T. LeBeau, Dr. W. H. Pugh, Prof. A. S. Langsdorf of Washington University and George J. Tansey.

President Kinsey of the Public Service Board said the new members were selected with a view to giving representation to every interest possible. He said the commissioners are men who are not less interested in the "city useful" than in the "city beautiful" and the work of the commission is certain to be continued along practical lines.

The commission will be called upon by the Service Board to co-operate in planning river terminals, docks and belt-line facilities. The members serve without compensation and meet once a month.

The retiring commissioners evolved the central traffic parkway as their most important city plan feature. They also recommended the establishment of a municipal steam railway on the levee.

Former Owners Understanding. The control of the Irish-American was assumed by Dr. Rumeley, from Austin J. Brogan, the president of the company, that published it. Brogan told a reporter for the World that before his departure for Europe, he had disposed of his interest in the paper, and that in the future the Irish-American would be conducted as a German organ. Brogan also notified some of his friends in writing of the change. Dr. Rumeley denied in an interview with a World reporter that he had

INDICTMENT FOR MAN WHOSE AUTO KILLED A WOMAN

Grover Hess Charged With Fourth Degree Manslaughter in Death of Mrs. Wadelmann.

A grand jury indictment, charging manslaughter in the fourth degree, was returned last night against Grover Hess, 23 years old, 2202 South Jefferson avenue, who drove an auto on the night of Sept. 4 that ran down and fatally injured Mrs. Carrie Wadelmann, 54 years old, a widow, of 448 Itasca street after she had alighted from a Chevrolet car at Itasca street and Gravois avenue. A bench warrant for his arrest was issued this morning.

Hess was driving a two-seated runabout in which were Charles Staehlin, 174 Mississippi avenue, and Misses Julia Helm and Corinne Coppinger, 1733 South Jefferson avenue. Four witnesses at the coroner's inquest testified that the auto was going at least 30 miles an hour when it passed the street car, which was standing still.

Mrs. Wadelmann was carried on the hood of the car for 10 yards until it struck a trolley pole, and she was thrown off. She was taken to the city hospital and died 24 hours later.

The penalty for the offense of which Hess is accused varies from a $500 fine to two years' imprisonment in the penitentiary.

STREET CAR MAIL CARS TO BE ABOLISHED AFTER JAN. 1

Postoffice Department Here Will Use Own Autos to Collect and Deliver Mails.

The Postoffice Department at Washington has made arrangements to use Government-owned automobiles for the collection and distribution of mails in St. Louis. These vehicles will take the place of street cars and automobiles used under contract with private corporations and will be put into service Jan. 1. The Postoffice Department estimates that the cost of Government-owned motor vehicle service will be $112,000 a year, as against $170,000 a year under the contract system. An expenditure of $64,000 for motor cars will be made.

The same system is to be introduced in Chicago. The Postoffice Department discovered evidence, according to Washington dispatches, that a private corporation was trying to monopolize the collection and distribution of mails in large cities. The bids recently submitted by the Cassidy Postal Service Corporation for handling the mails in St. Louis and Chicago were rejected as being too high. The Postoffice Department then began working out plans for Government collection and distribution.

SHOOTS TWO MEN, ONE OF THEM HIS BROTHER-IN-LAW

W. A. Schmeckebier Seriously Wounds Frank Spelbrink and Francis Greable.

Frank Spelbrink, 23 years old, of Overland Park, St. Louis County, and Francis Greable, 21, of 1448 Monroe street, were shot and seriously wounded, yesterday afternoon, when they went to the office of Spelbrink's brother-in-law, William A. Schmeckebier, 25, of 3314 Fairview avenue, manager of the Schmeckebier Candy Co., of 404 North Second street. They are at the city hospital.

Spelbrink's wife, Louise, is in delicate health and has not been told of the shooting. She is Schmeckebier's sister. Schmeckebier opened fire with an automatic pistol when Spelbrink and Greable entered his office. He told the police he had received a telephone message from Spelbrink that "I am coming down there to get you."

After the telephone message was received, a policeman was sent to guard Schmeckebier. The policeman had gone to a patrol box a block away to make his hourly report when the shooting occurred. When he heard the shots he ran back to the office and Schmeckebier surrendered to him.

Greable told the police he met Spelbrink downtown and was invited to take a walk with him. He said he was not told an attack was to be made on Schmeckebier.

All of the six bullets in Schmeckebier's pistol took effect. Spelbrink was shot in the left side, abdomen, right arm and right leg. Greable was wounded in the right side and right leg. Schmeckebier's mother, Mrs. Louise Schmeckebier, a widow, with whom he lives, said Spelbrink and her son had not been on good terms for some time. Spelbrink, she said, wanted Schmeckebier to give him and his wife employment with his candy company.

Schmeckebier said his business would not warrant this, she said, and this caused an estrangement. Mrs. Schmeckebier said she recently heard that Spelbrink had made threats to "get even" with her.

At the hospital today Spelbrink denied that he had told Schmeckebier over the telephone that he was going to "get" him. He said he called up Schmeckebier to talk over a business matter and Schmeckebier became angry. Spelbrink said he then told his brother-in-law he would "come down and see him."

CHINESE BOYCOTT JAPANESE

500 Nipponese Waiters and Cooks Discharged in Chicago Restaurants.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—The summary discharge of more than 500 Japanese cooks and waiters from restaurants operated by Chinese in Chicago was explained today as being part of a boycott for the demands made by Japan on China for the ceding of territory and various rights.

Chinese servants are refusing to work where Japanese are employed, and Chinese merchants have pledged themselves, it was said, to purchase no merchandise from Japanese.

Law Passed to Give Wife Divorce, St. Louis Man Says

Dr. Barrington Asks Alabama Governor to Veto Bill Giving Women a Special Right.

Dr. Richard L. Barrington, examiner of pensions for the Government, with offices in the Old Customs House, has written a letter to Gov. Henderson of Alabama, requesting him to veto a bill enacted by the Legislature which gives a woman the right to sue for divorce after five years' separation, although she may be the cause of the separation.

Press dispatches from Montgomery, Ala., where Mrs. Barrington has been living since 1911, state that Dr. Barrington in his letter declared that the law was enacted especially to enable his wife to obtain a divorce from him.

Mrs. Barrington is a member of the Whiting family of Alabama, and Dr. Barrington charged that her brother, A. F. Whiting, member of the law firm in Montgomery of which State Senator Hill is also a member, was instrumental in having the law passed. Hill pressed the bill to its passage. Dr. Barrington alleged.

Mrs. Barrington filed suit for divorce in St. Louis in 1911, but Judge Bassett refused to grant it, saying the couple should become reconciled and live together.

GIRL SERIOUSLY INJURED WHEN HIT BY MOTOR CYCLE

Dodges Auto and Is Knocked Down: Recovery Said to Be Improbable.

Gussie Goshlin, 17 years old, of 1723 Division street, when on her way to work at a factory, was knocked down and seriously injured this morning at Nineteenth and Locust streets by a motor cycle ridden by Andrew McFarnwell of 3603 Williams place. She was thrown violently to the street, her head striking the pavement, and her skull being fractured.

With May Kessel, of 1307 Middle street she was crossing Locust street from the north side to the south side. She dodged back from an eastbound automobile, and was hit by the motor cycle, which was westbound. McFarnwell was arrested by the police on a charge of carelessness. The injured girl was taken in an automobile to the city hospital. Physicians, after an examination of her injuries, said she was so badly hurt that recovery was improbable.

WOMAN THROWN FROM AN AUTO

Looses Two Teeth, Cut and Bruised When Car Hits Machine.

Mrs. Jeannette Randall, 38 years old, of 2732 Aclinton avenue, wife of Edward T. Randall, a boxing instructor, was thrown from an automobile last night, when her escort, Frank H. Krueger, 38 years old, a decorator, of 1315 Sidney street, drove his machine in front of a Grand car at Grand and Holiday avenues. The car hit the automobile with considerable force, despite the fact that the motorman applied the emergency brake.

Mrs. Randall was taken to the home of a friend, Mrs. E. C. Rorer, 387 Ararat street, where physicians found that she had lost two lower teeth and was badly bruised about the face, hands and knees. Krueger was arrested on a charge of carelessness.

INSANE MAN REVEALS MURDER

Oklahoma Killed Cousin, 5 Years Ago, and Buried Body in Field.
CHICKASHA, Ok., Sept. 14.—Ed Stephens, a farmer, 35 years old, residing about 20 miles northwest of this city, recently became insane and told of having murdered his cousin, Oscar W. Stephens, 19 years old, five years ago and buried the body in a corn field. At the time the youth disappeared the farmer said he had run away to join the army.

The family related the murder story to the Sheriff, who found the body of the murdered youth in the corn field where the farmer said he had buried it.

STEPS TAKEN FOR CLOSER ALLIANCE OF BALKAN STATES

Greece, Rumania and Servia Prepare to Anticipate Austro-German Attack.

ATHENS, Sept. 14.—The situation on the Rumanian frontier is not considered immediately menacing by persons in official circles here, especially in view of the fact that Rumania is not yet fully prepared for eventualities. The tenacity of the situation has prompted a step, however, for a closer understanding between Greece, Rumania and Servia, with a view to eventual action in the event of an Austro-German attack.

Bulgaria has not been included in these negotiations, for it now is admitted that the Turco-Bulgarian agreement finally has been signed and that Bulgaria will not accept Serbian concessions.

It is reported in diplomatic circles here that there has been a heavy mobilization of Rumanian troops, including several regiments of cavalry, to face an unexpected concentration of Austrians, which is directed presumably against Rumania.

It is asserted that the Austro-German explanation is that the concentration is directed toward the suppression of espionage in Transylvania, but this statement is not taken seriously.

SAYS BULGARIA HAS NO ALLIANCE

Premier Tells Entente Ministers That Country Has Assumed No Political Obligations.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Sept. 11, via London, Sept. 14.—Premier Radoslawoff continues in touch with the Ministers of the entente Powers. He has informed them that Bulgaria has assumed no political obligations as a result of the cessation of Turkey of territory to Bulgaria.

Denial is given here to the report that the Ministers of the triple entente Powers have made new proposals to Bulgaria. It is stated that the entente Governments are still working with Servia with the purpose of obtaining from her a satisfactory answer to their demands that Servia cede to Bulgaria the territory desired by the latter country.

The German military attaché here, Maj. Baron von der Goltz, is leaving his post. He will be replaced by Gen. von Lossow, who formerly was attached to the legation. It is stated that Baron von der Goltz is leaving voluntarily.

The statement was made in Government circles here today that the reason urged by Greece why the Monastir district of Southern Servia should not be ceded to Bulgaria (because Greece and Servia desire to have a common border) was not the real reason for Greece's attitude, owing to the fact that no strategic elements would be involved by such cession.

The real object, it was asserted, was an understanding between Greece and Servia that they should prevent contact between Bulgaria and Albania, and make Albania the common prey of Greece and Servia. If Albania were allowed contact with Bulgaria, it was added, the latter country would, in the interest of her national principle work for the independence of Albania, which would be distasteful to Greece and Servia.

The Bulgarian Government had called the Macedonian legion to the colors for a training period of 45 days. The training will begin Sept. 17.

The correspondent of the Associated Press was given the privilege today of reading an interesting document addressed by Armenians to the Bulgarian Government, interceding with the Government in behalf of the Armenians in Asia Minor, of whom it is asserted nearly 55,000 have been driven from their homes.

The Government is requested to use its good offices to ameliorate the condition of the Armenians. Of those who have been driven away to other parts of Asia Minor the document says that a number of them have been killed or are missing. It does not, however, state their number.

The Bishops molested are said to include one burned alive, three hanged and three murdered.

Rumania and Germany Near a Break in Relations

LONDON, Sept. 14.—A dispatch to the Times from Sofia says: "The relations of Rumania with the central Powers have reached a critical stage. The German Government in a recent note demanded permission for the passage of Austro-German troops through Rumanian territory and the fulfillment by Rumania of an undertaking to supply benzine and other supplies to a value of $40,000,000."

"Over 200 German wagons laden with war materials are waiting on the Rumanian frontier."

"We Have Bought a Farm and Wish to Sell Our Home."

BRYAN MAY GO TO EUROPE AS PRIVATE ENVOY OF PEACE

Would Represent the Publishers of the Foreign Language Newspapers of America.

TO PAY OWN EXPENSES

Matter Will Be Decided at a Conference in Washington Next Friday.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14.—William Jennings Bryan has signified that he is willing to go to Europe and attempt to bring about peace. Whether he will go will be decided at a conference between the Publishers of Foreign Language Newspapers and himself in Washington, on Sept. 17 at 4 p. m.

The announcement of the former State Secretary's willingness was contained in a letter received today by the editor of an Italian newspaper here, from Dr. William Forgo of Brooklyn, who publishes the Forgo Guides and heads the movement to have Bryan try to stop the war. Col. Bryan will defray his own expenses.

"After a talk I had with Mr. Bryan," wrote Dr. Forgo, "I am under the impression that, provided it develops at this meeting with the editors that his going abroad is advisable, he himself will, for the love of the cause, not only sacrifice his time, but will also pay his own expenses."

Negotiations began in August. Dr. Forgo's first correspondence with Bryan and some of the editors of foreign language newspapers, started on Aug. 17. Letters were not received here, however, until today. Bryan's proposed trip will be for the purpose of demonstrating to the world the power and influence for good which is exerted by American newspapers published in foreign languages. Prior to his trip, copies of every newspaper which Bryan will represent will be given him.

The first of the letters which opened the negotiations on Aug. 17 refers to the campaign of advertising conducted by foreign newspaper editors in an effort to stop the war and then unfolds the present plan, which is to be backed by "private citizens."

"No one could institute it better than William Jennings Bryan, who is known all over the world as a champion of everlasting peace," says the letter.

President's Letter Quoted. "As a private citizen he would help more than he could as a part of the Government. He has the confidence of the people, plus that of the President," and then the letter of President Wilson, written when he accepted Bryan's resignation from the Cabinet, is quoted only in those parts which avoid discussion of divergence of views in the attitude toward Germany.

Bryan's promise to meet a delegation of the movement is told in this letter.

"The movement is such that all lovers of peace, no matter where their sympathies lie, could properly lend their assistance and influence," the letter concludes.

In the second letter Dr. Forgo tells of a preliminary meeting of New York editors of foreign newspapers, at which Gessa D. Berko, editor of the American-Hungarian People's Voice is quoted as saying that naturalized Americans and foreigners in the United States are more interested in restoring peace than are Americans, because in addition to a general desire for peace from the dictates of humanity the sufferings of their relatives in Europe move them to end the war.

SWEDISH SOCIALISTS EXPEL 3 PRO-GERMANS FROM PARTY

Action on Ground They Were Authors of Book Urging Sweden to Aid Germany.

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 14.—Prof. Gustave Steffen, Oscar Jette and Engve Larsson, three prominent members of the Socialist party, have been expelled from the party by the unanimous vote of the Stockholm Socialist Commune, on the ground that they were co-authors of the so-called War Book.

This war book, which was published two months ago, strongly advocates Sweden's participation in the war on the side of Germany and has been the most widely discussed publication in Sweden since the war began. It presents an elaborate argument that for historical reasons it was Sweden's duty to fight against Russia.

Although known that the book was written by five men, the names were not given, and the anonymity caused endless speculation. The discovery that part of the text was the product of members of the Socialist party, which favors the Entente Powers, has caused a sensation. It is expected that the resolution of expulsion will be confirmed by the committee of the whole party at a meeting next week.

Tornado Claims. All persons sustaining loss or damage by reason of the storm on Aug. 28 ult., holding tornado policies, and whose insurance companies have denied liability, should consult Chas. E. Carroll, Adjuster of Fire Losses, 215 Central National Bank Bldg., relative to their rights. No charge for advice.

AUTO PURSUED BY MOTORCYCLE POLICEMEN WRECKED, 2 HURT

Machine, Said to Have Been Driven at 65 Miles an Hour Crashed Into Car, and Patrolman Into It.

A repair service auto driven by Harry G. Colonius, 2111 Salome avenue, while being pursued by a motor cycle policeman last night, ran into a Vandeventer car near the mouth of the alley on Vandeventer avenue, between Olive street and Washington boulevard. One of the motor cycles, that ridden by Patrolman Heese, crashed into the wrecked auto and both he and Colonius were cut and bruised.

The policeman said Colonius was going about forty-five miles an hour when they sighted him at Whitler and Olive streets. They chased him east to Spring avenue, then north to the alley and west to Vandeventer.

Colonius was charged with carelessness, exceeding the speed limit and having the car out of order.

Jewelry, Furs and Money Stolen. There was a burglary at the residence of Edgar R. Smythe, 1513 Hamilton avenue, in the absence of the family last night. Jewelry valued at $450, furs worth $100 and $43 in cash were reported stolen.

PRISONER DRESSED AS WOMAN SPIRITED AWAY BY THE SHERIFF

Nowata, Ok., Sept. 14.—Several hundred armed men stormed the county jail here last night demanding R. L. Harkins, charged with attacking a 15-year-old girl. The mob overpowered the Sheriff's deputies and forced the doors of the jail, only to find that Harkins had been taken away.

Harkins had been bound over for trial in the district court here. On leaving the courtroom he was taken to the jail under heavy guard as violence was feared. Harkins was identified by the child at the hearing. At times the crowd in the courtroom became threatening. Anticipating violence, Sheriff James Mayes early last night dressed his prisoner as a woman and took him by automobile. It is thought, to Coffeyville, Kan.

AUSTRIAN PEOPLE HUNGRY, GLOOMY, SAYS AMERICAN

Historian, on Return Home, Tells of German Control in Government and Army.

By Latest Wire From the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—A story of national gloom and of growing disgust on the part of the Austrian people with their German allies was told by Prof. John A. Silver, who occupies the chair of history at Hobart College, and who returned on the Scandinavian-American line last night from a visit to American Ambassador Penfield at Vienna.

"Austria is so generally discouraged," Prof. Silver said, "that the real feeling cannot be concealed from the observant foreigner. Austrians declare that another year of war means financial collapse for their country."

"Great numbers of Austrians are half-starved. Thousands are existing on bread that isn't fit to eat, and the horses and other beasts are struggling on half rations."

"One would think the recent Russian campaign would have bolstered up their outlook, but from the outset of the war they were deceived so often that they no longer have any faith in the information vouchsafed them."

"In every bureau of the Austrian Government you will find Germans, often in minor positions, more clerks some of them, but somehow giving orders that seem to be obeyed. German officialdom has permeated all through Austrian affairs, and the silence of the Austrian press has not blinded the people to what is going on."

"In the Austrian army the Kaiser's control is even more pronounced and more overt. Today every Austrian corps but one—the army of Bukovina on the southeast flank commanded by Gen. Planer—is under German dictation, if not actually officered by Germans."

"There is no anti-Austrian feeling in Austria. The Austrian people very generally blame German diplomacy and the German submarine policy for the ill feeling that has developed in America against the Teutonic allies."

Realizing the extra hazardous risks attending European travel, we refrained from sending our buyers abroad during the past Summer, but decided instead to utilize our splendid resident Paris organization, Messrs. D. Roditi & Sons.

We instructed them to attend all the Millinery Openings in Paris, and make personal selections from the best Modistes of the latest and best of their offerings.

Our representatives have sent us a choice assortment of Model Hats. Among them:

Science has fully proved that Catarrh of the sinuses, throat and lungs requires a constitutional treatment. Sprays, inhalers, salves and nose drops seldom if ever give lasting benefit. Effective treatment must be directed downwards and into the lungs.

If you have Catarrh or Catarrhal deafness or head noises, go to your druggist and get a bottle of "Farnell's (double strength)." Take this medicine and it is just of hot water and a dash of Frankincense, myrror and dissolved in the table-salt-water for a day.

It will often bring quick relief. It dissolves the watery mucus in the distended head noises, clogged nostrils, and restores the normal and mucous stop dropping into the throat. It also restores the normal circulation which makes it especially effective in Catarrh of the sinuses, throat and weak. It is easy to make.

Pleasant and costly little. Every person who has Catarrh of the sinuses, throat and lungs should try this constructive disease. It gives you

BLUNDERS CAUSED ALLIES' DEFEATS, FORTESCUE SAYS

United States Army Expert Analyzes Many Setbacks of Quadruple Entente.

By Capt. Granville Fortescue.
Former Military Aid of President Roosevelt.

GERMANY is winning in the great war. A glance at the map indicates to any impartial critic that so far the military positions favor that nation. Her victories, nevertheless, are not entirely brought about by her superb organization or any genius of strategy, but are largely due to her opponents' blunders.

The vital defect in the allied campaign since the beginning of the war is lack of co-ordination. There has been no comprehensive plan looking to concerted action. The Belgian army has practically ceased to exist, because it was not vigorously supported by the French in the early days of the war.

Up until the present the French and English armies conducted operations entirely independently of each other, while in Russia the Grand Duke worked out his campaign just as if his allies in the west were non-existent. When Italy came in the war she went about her campaign quite independently of other operations. The result has been that, instead of Germany fighting the world, she combats five independent armies. Here we have the key of Teutonic success. It is the time-worn, but effective maneuver of Napoleon beating the enemy in detail.

Advantage of Initiative. This has given the German the great advantage of initiative. They hold this advantage because the allies would not or could not meet it on two distinct occasions. First, after the battle of the Marne, and second, at the time of the German check along the Yser. Since that time, with the exception of the Russian Carpathian campaign, Germany has forced her opponents to accept battle when and where it suited her. Such a condition would not have been possible if a close understanding and constant communication between the heads of the allies' armies existed.

What is wrong with England? In a word, I should answer this by saying, "the politicians." England began this war under the worst government it has suffered from in modern history. The men in power could get no public question except in terms of votes. The result was they fairly shriveled in the mighty crisis that threatened their nation. They were valiant enough with words.

Mr. Asquith spoke for five hours on what England was going to do to Germany. That was 10 months ago, and today you will find plenty of battalions training in different parts of England, not yet supplied with rifles. As for machine guns, the most important weapon in modern war, they are numbered in hundreds, instead of in thousands, as they should be.

The Premier balks at the only fair method of recruiting in a democracy, conscription. He says in so many words: "If I adopt conscription, I put the Liberal party out of power for 30 years."

If Mr. Asquith could beat Germany and retain office, he would be very glad of it. Otherwise, he prefers to retain his office.

One of the stock arguments against conscription is: "We haven't got the rifles to supply the men already enlisted." Frankly, I lose all patience with such unintelligence. When will the English realize that they must win this war themselves, and it is going to be a long war?

"British Public Fooled." The coalition Government is little better than its Liberal predecessor. In one way it is a distinct improvement. The man who has cost England more in blood and money than any other has been for the moment suppressed. From the beginning the authorities in England have had an hour time feeding the public. Under the censorship throughout the first months of the war nothing of an alarming nature ever appeared in print. The most outrageous fabrications from Amsterdam, Athens or Rome were assiduously circled.

Time and again when I returned to London from different points in the war area, and ventured to suggest that things were not going as well as they might, my closest friends scoffed at me as a pro-German, as one hypnotized by the smooth appearance of the German military machine.

A FINE TREATMENT FOR CATARRH

EASY TO MAKE AND COSTS LITTLE.

Catarrh is such an insidious disease and has become so prevalent during the past few years that its treatment should be understood by all. Science has fully proved that Catarrh is a constitutional disease and therefore requires a constitutional treatment. Sprays, inhalers, salves and nose douches seldom if ever give lasting benefit and often drive the disease further down the air passages and into the lungs. If you have Catarrh or Catarrhal deafness or head noises, go to your druggist and get one ounce of Permatin (double strength). Take this home and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a pinch of crystallized sugar. Stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful, 4 times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises, clogged nostrils should cease, breathing become easy and mucus stop dripping into the throat. This treatment has a slight tonic action which makes it especially effective in cases where the blood has become thin and weak. It is easy to make, tastes pleasant and costs little. Every person who wishes to be free from this distressing disease should give this treatment a trial.—ADV.

YOU SAY "I'M WELL"—BUT ARE YOU?

NO ONE is really well who is dependent upon laxatives and cathartics for relief from a more or less chronic condition of constipation.

Laxatives give only temporary relief and their after effects intensify the very condition they are supposed to remedy.

A few years ago, Sir William Arbuthnot Lane, the distinguished English surgeon, obtained some remarkable successes by the use of mineral oil in the treatment of chronic constipation. Since then, the mineral oil treatment has received the most thorough testing. The Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) has produced in Nujol a product that conforms in every way with the requirements of the medical profession.

Nujol is odorless and tasteless, absolutely neutral, and is not digested or absorbed into the system. It acts merely as a mechanical lubricant.

Nujol is not a drug. Its use will not give quick, temporary relief. But Nujol is a genuine remedy in that it relieves constipation in the most natural way by lubricating the lining of the intestines, softening the intestinal contents, and thus promoting healthy and normal bowel activity.

removed more than 20 French general officers in his effort to better the personnel of the French army. It would be interesting to know how many Generals Lord Kitchener has supplanted.

What is wrong with France? If it were not for the politicians I should say "Nothing." The new spirit in France has won the respect and admiration of the world. The way the French have recovered from their early defeat is a page of brilliant history. The French have achieved a moral superiority over the Germans along their whole front. They have gone about their work additionally. And the results have brought about a spirit of optimism which has spread from the troops of the first line to the whole nation.

The heroism of the army is only equaled by the heroism of the women of France. They suffer nobly and never complain.

Some competent authorities criticize the tactics of "milling." They say it is a too costly maneuver. This does not seem to be just. The small gains which the French make from day to day and from night to night in the Vosges must in the long run count. French officers believe in these attacks they are killing off the Germans to every Frenchman. This, I fear, is an exaggeration.

Why are the French armies of the center inactive? The Russians have just cause to complain that they are not being properly supported. There can be no question but that a large number of corps have been taken from the German position in front of the French armies and hurled against the Russian line. I know that Gen. von Beseler was long in the west some much more there in the west.

Now we read of him in Warsaw. It is inexplicable, therefore, that the Hundreds of people can tell how they have been relieved of stomach troubles by using this remedy. It is a medicine that not only cures the stomach but also restores the system to normal condition and gives ruddy cheeks. "Positive French Savior of France."

The only excuse that can be entertained is the scarcity of men. France has now enrolled the entire nation. In a recent engagement, which has not been alluded to except in a laconic sentence in a communiqué, a French army lost 50,000 men. Such a casualty list is a startling revelation on the cost of an offensive. This may have held the French forces of the center stationary. Gen. Joffre, to whom some deny the qualification of military genius, has brought organization out of chaos. He is the true savior of France.

Give Russia the German General Staff and the Czar's troops would be in Berlin in three months. The complete breakdown of the Russian offensive is due to faulty organization.

On the surface the Russian army is an impressive machine—its very size is astounding. There is something apt in the steam roller simile. But even the steam roller is useless without gasoline, or if it is defective in its internal machinery. That's what is wrong with Russia.

The Russian common soldier and the Russian company officer is equal in bravery to the German. It is in her staff that the Russian shows great weakness. The shortage of ammunition is such a notorious fact that I shall not dwell on it here. Beyond this gross military lapse the present debacle can be attributed to the vital deficiency.

First, the almost complete failure of the Russian service of communication; second, a woeful lack of co-operation between division and corps commanders.

Time and again the Germans and Austrians have carried out surprise movements under the very noses of Russian pickets. One Austrian report claims they came upon a whole Russian corps while it was asleep. Such negligence can only lead to the worst disaster. It is the patrols are either nonexistent or so poorly organized as to be ineffective.

Lack of Communication.

The lack of communication between corps and division headquarters of different units in the Russian army is a serious matter. A division commander will get a very important piece of information which he will keep entirely to himself. It may go through to the corps commander, but then often happens it is not communicated to the staff, where it might be of vital importance.

The fault of intercommunication is a frequent one in newly organized armies. It takes more than mere numbers to win battles. Russia is finding this out to her cost. Under his handicaps the army has executed a remarkable retreat. But on the very face of things it is absurd that Germany, with about one-third the population of Russia, should be able to put more men into the field against the Russian forces. The Russian communicates always complain of being attacked by overwhelming numbers, and at the same time the Germans hold the English and French armies in check in the west. It is an unparalleled military achievement.

The Russian of the highest classes is temperamentally unfitted for what we call the business side of war. He is lazy. Besides the routine of the supply departments appears to him to be an inglorious occupation.

When it is a task of the present magnitude the Russian of the higher class makes every effort to avoid it. The result is sure to be disaster when we remember that all the most responsible positions in the Russian service are held by the nobility. There are too many incompetent Grand Dukes holding high commands. They are regarded as a superior class of beings, and for this reason any worthy General of ordinary birth would not dare to contradict their suggestions or interfere with their method of handling units. Because a man happens to be born a Grand Duke it does not necessarily follow that he is endowed with superior military ability.

Pro-German Clique in Russia.

The cancer that is eating at the heart of Russia is the pro-German clique at Petrograd. This is a danger far greater than the straightforward German invasion. It is like an insidious disease, undermining the strength of the nation.

The Czar is surrounded by a pro-German staff. And the court is saturated with German and Austrian sympathy. Sympathy and intrigue is the very life of a large number of titled personages having strong Teutonic connections.

At present Italy is a factor in so little importance in the great war that its course of action does not call for serious study. Her armies are operating on a restricted front. It is obvious they will not move far over the greater part of this territory.

Slow and steady progress which the General Staff advocates so assiduously is the worst type of military movement. A smashing dash to Gorlice would have inspired the allies. As it is they realize that Italy and Austria are having a little war with very little reference to the main conflict.

If there had been co-operation among the allies, six divisions of the Italian army could have been thrown into the Turkish war zone in May. Such a maneuver would have completely changed the situation in the Dardanelles. That Italy waited until the present moment to declare war against Turkey is a diplomatic blunder on the part of the allies of the first magnitude.

The sentiment for Serbia has ruined the allies' hopes in the Balkans. The failure of Russia to exert sufficient pressure on her Slav protégé to concede Macedonia is responsible for the present Balkan mess. Now that Serbia sees herself threatened with a German invasion she makes haste to drop her recalcitrant attitude, but like everything else, it comes too late.

"Positive French Savior of France."

The only excuse that can be entertained is the scarcity of men. France has now enrolled the entire nation. In a recent engagement, which has not been alluded to except in a laconic sentence in a communiqué, a French army lost 50,000 men. Such a casualty list is a startling revelation on the cost of an offensive. This may have held the French forces of the center stationary. Gen. Joffre, to whom some deny the qualification of military genius, has brought organization out of chaos. He is the true savior of France.

Give Russia the German General Staff and the Czar's troops would be in Berlin in three months. The complete breakdown of the Russian offensive is due to faulty organization.

On the surface the Russian army is an impressive machine—its very size is astounding. There is something apt in the steam roller simile. But even the steam roller is useless without gasoline, or if it is defective in its internal machinery. That's what is wrong with Russia.

The Russian common soldier and the Russian company officer is equal in bravery to the German. It is in her staff that the Russian shows great weakness. The shortage of ammunition is such a notorious fact that I shall not dwell on it here. Beyond this gross military lapse the present debacle can be attributed to the vital deficiency.

MODEL INJURED IN AN AUTO ACCIDENT SUES HER HOST

Miss Alice Curry, Alleging Beauty
Was Destroyed, Asks for $7500
From G. L. Berkley.

Miss Alice Curry of 910 Washington boulevard, a dress and cloak model, who also has posed for style pictures published in magazines, yesterday filed a $7500 damage suit against George L.
Berkley, an automobile agent, alleging that her beauty was spoiled when she was injured while riding with Berkley
in his automobile the night of Aug. 12.
Miss Curry alleges that she took the ride at Berkley's invitation and that while they were going through Forest

Park Berkley drove carelessly and the machine struck a tree. The left side of her face was badly cut, she alleges, leaving a permanent scar. She also says her head was bruised and her hands were cut, so that they also are now scarred.

The injury, she says, caused her great mental suffering and humiliation and the scars will be the cause of mortification to her for the remainder of her life.

The disfigurement of her face and hands,
she says, destroyed her ability to earn her living as a model and made it necessary for her to seek less lucrative employment.

Berkley lives at 449 Berlin avenue.
He could not be reached for a statement.

WHITEWASH FOR ALL OF STATE DEPARTMENTS

Democrats on the House Investigating Committee to Submit to Governor Major
Within Two or Three Weeks a Majority Report
Favoring Officials.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 14.—A complete whitewash of all State departments by the House of Representatives Investigating Committee, headed by Representative Frank H. Farris of Rolla, has been decided upon by the three Democratic members of the committee and will, within two or three weeks, be filed with Gov. Major.

It has become known that a strong minority report will be made by Representative Almon Ing of Poplar Bluff and Representative Frank Harr of Ka-hoka, the Republican members of the committee. Representatives Simpson of Lewis County and Correll of Randolph County, Democrats, will sign the majority report prepared by Farris.

The majority report will offer an excuse for every discrepancy found and criticism made by a firm of expert accountants. It is known that the Republicans have agreed to the majority report on the offices of the Secretary of State, State Treasurer and Superintendent of Insurance.

Secretary of State Roscoe and Treasurer Deal will be given a clean bill of health in the majority report, as will also Superintendent of Insurance Reville.

About the only real criticism in the majority report will be of the fee system prevailing in the Insurance Department. The report will recommend that the fee system, under which the actuary in the department is permitted to earn approximately $5000 a year, while the head of the department receives a salary of only $3000, be abolished, and that all fees be accounted for in receipts of the office.

Penitentiary Management.

The management of the penitentiary and of the office of State Auditor John P. Gordon will come in for strong criticism in the minority report, though Chairman Farris' majority report will say that they have been efficiently and economically conducted.

The Republican members of the committee have decided to make a decided issue of nepotism in their minority report, with a view to making the subject one of the strong campaign issues next year. It is expected that, with the strong report from this committee against nepotism, the Republicans will be unable to escape facing an anti-nepotism plank in the next State platform.
They are realizing the popular objection to nepotism since it has been brought to the attention of the public in the management of State offices in Jefferson City.

Auditor Gordon will be severely arraigned in the report for having his wife on the payroll in his office. It will be charged that she does not perform regular duties of the office and that the salary of $1800 a year paid her is almost a total waste of State funds. The minority report also will comment on the fact that Gordon's son, Morris Gordon, is State Building and Loan Supervisor and that he has his wife on the payroll in his office and that Morris Gordon's brother-in-law, Willard King is chief clerk in the State Auditor's office. Warden McClung will be criticized for placing his son, Carl, in charge of the Prison commissary and permitting him to conduct a private store within the prison, selling to convicts at a price fixed by him.

Points in Minority Report.

The entire management of the Penitentiary will be criticized by Representatives Ing and Harr. They will point out that expert accountants found that contracts for many thousands of dollars of supplies were let to men close to Gov.
Major, in some instances, without the submission of competitive bids. It will be pointed out that the contract for meat has recently been let to Armour & Co., which is represented in the dealings with the State by Col. Phil Mullin of Kansas City, a member of Gov.
Major's personal military staff, and that another large contract for plumbing supplies for the new cell building was let to the L. M. Ramsey Mfg.
Co., of St. Louis, of which Horace S.
Ramsey, appointed Excise Commissioner of St. Louis by Gov. Major, a member of his personal military staff, and a close personal friend, is vice-president.

Warden McClung testified before the committee that bids were submitted for the plumbing contract, but he was unable to produce the bids either for the committee or for the expert accountants who checked up the penitentiary. It also will be shown in the minority report that the Alle-Jordan Lumber Co. of Jefferson City sold without bids to the penitentiary lumber for the new cell building.

The minority report will say that very unbusinesslike methods were used and that bids should have been called for to enable the State to have the benefit of competition in buying the large quantities of lumber.

The system by which Warden Mc-Clung received in supplies from the commissary the equivalent of 50 cents a day for the board of each of the convict servants employed in the Warden's residence will be condemned. Representatives Ing and Harr will report to the Governor that there is no law authorizing the Board of Prison Inspectors to make the Warden any allowance for board for his convict servants.

The minority report will also take up the subjects of the purchase of automobiles for the prison and the use of gasoline. It will be pointed out that, from the amount of gasoline used, each prison automobile would have had to be run more than 50 miles a day to consume it.

Issue of Next Campaign.

It is expected that the two reports will form the real issue of the next campaign in Missouri. The Farris-Correll-Simpson majority report will attempt to excuse everything criticized by the expert accountants and by the committee in the hearings.

A Book For Every Investor

We have just published an unusual book entitled "Farm Mortgages" that every investor seeking safety with a steady income of 5% to 6% should read.
In plain easy-to-understand language this interesting book tells why Farm Mortgages secured by well located farms of established values, make the most desirable investments known. It tells why we never loan over 50% of the value of the land, why the applicant for the loan must answer over fifty questions, why two thorough investigations are made by experts, why we have refused over $20,000,000 worth of applications for farm loans—why thirty-four Insurance Companies have invested $650,000,000 in these securities—why our clients have purchased from us $40,000,000 worth of Farm Mortgages without the loss to them of a dollar in principal or interest.

"Farm Mortgages" bristles with hosts of other interesting investment facts too. If you have $100 or $100,000 to invest, you need this book.
Before you invest a single dollar, we suggest that you call, telephone or write for a copy of "Farm Mortgages." It is surely well worth your while.

Yes Sah, Boss, It's HYDE PARK

"Seldom Equaled Never Excelled"

Those who have tried Hyde Park once, appreciate and insist upon it always.

From one sip you realize it tastes "different," and you wonder just exactly what the difference is.

It's a subtle something that can't be analyzed. It's a richness of bouquet, flavor and aroma. It's the art in knowing how to make beer just right. It represents the years of experience and experimentation, in America and abroad, that the Brew Master who makes Hyde Park has had. It is the result of using only the best barley-malt, distilled water, expensive imported hops, pure culture yeast and the finest of rice. It is the aging for a period of many months.
Or, in a word, it is the Hyde Park process in its entirety.

Try Hyde Park Bottled Beer today. Order a case for your home. You will buy it if you appreciate the best.

All Hotels and Cafes Serve Hyde Park.

The second process in the making of HYDE PARK BOTTLED BEER is the adding of a large quantity of barley-malt. After that it is gradually heated to a definite temperature for a definite length of time.

Ethical Problem in Crone Case.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Your editorial in Saturday's paper, captioned "Traffic With Justice," in which you refer to the efforts of certain friends of Charles Christian Crone to obtain a parole in his behalf, opens up some interesting ethical questions, some of which I think have escaped your observation.

Crone stands today having morally confessed the theft of many thousands of dollars, in certain instances from persons whose all is gone. The law says ten years at hard labor at Jefferson City; it does not take into account the stigma of the indictment, the disgrace of exposure.

Charles Christian Crone during many years as citizen and friend carried with him many men up the ladder of success. The extent of these services to these friends is measured now when they (evidently, sentiment aside, are doing only what the commonest of gratitude calls for) are willing to dig down, and pay back, dollar for dollar, the money stolen by their patron friend, much of which contributed to their success.

That these friends should get busy on this long delayed action and give the pot a good old-fashioned Yankee skimming. Skim off all anti-American sentiment whether expressed by individuals, leagues or strikes.

The law says ten years, but all who know him know too the sentence in this case, whether it were ten or two years, is death.

Even the best that can be hoped from a confession of guilt and a stayed sentence is an early grave. "Justice" you write of; just what do you mean?

OBSERVER.

"The Melting Pot."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Now that the President has, by the firing of Dumba, started the skimming of the melting pot every American should get busy on this long delayed action and give the pot a good old-fashioned Yankee skimming. Skim off all anti-American sentiment whether expressed by individuals, leagues or strikes.

The "copperhead newspapers" are the skimmers of the room. Every true American should "join the colors." Make them get in or get out and save the country from copperheads and traitors.

Let every American get busy in his own bailiwick.

Making It Hot for Readers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

While reading in the newspaper room at the library at Thirteenth and Olive streets, Saturday afternoon an attendant handed me a card on which was printed: "The Board of Directors has ruled that coats may not be removed by readers."

On account of the heat I removed my coat fully an hour before I entered the library. Two other men were also given the same kind of cards. As we walked out one of them said he had no coat; and also that he went into a lot of other places and no one ever told him he had to wear a coat. I said I wouldn't read there and left. I heard complaints from other men who said they were not allowed in the magazine room on account of not having a coat. It looks like the library belongs to the directors more than it does to the public, when they bar men from reading because they wear no coats.

Church Services at the New Jail.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The Post-Dispatch intimates that the "Shepherds of the Flock," which is confined to the jail, have been asleep for two whole months. More than a year ago I took up the matter of service in the then uncompleted jail with Mr. Trol, and again last spring with him and with the Director of Public Welfare, and they were perfectly willing to have services held there, but thought the arrangement of the building would prevent. And enclosed it has proved. In order to reach all the men it seems that at least 12 services would be necessary, and even then all the men could not be met face to face. Permission has, indeed, been given for services, but it was given long before any publicity attended this matter, and mere permission will not affect stone and steel.

I want services in the new jail, just as we had them in the old jail, but under present conditions visiting would seem to be worth more than services. So then, if we must place the blame, who not place it on those who have invited it, that is, when were the Post-Dispatch and the Church Federation when the plans for the new jail were drawn several years ago?

BIGGEST OF INTERNATIONAL LOANS.

J. J. Hill may be right when he says that for American bankers to make the loan of $500,000,000 or more, which England, France and Russia are asking in this country, is more important to us than to the allies.

The great excess of the things we sold these allies over the things we bought from them during the last fiscal year quickly exhausted the credit of several hundred millions they had on our books at the beginning of the war. Purchases and orders to purchase from us continued in great volume after the international books had been balanced. Soon a huge credit in our favor instead of theirs appeared in the account.

To pay for what they have bought and are buying of us, money and the equivalent of money have been sent over in shipments—about $80,000,000 worth of gold and a greater sum in gold-edged American securities.

This cannot go on indefinitely. To continue imports of specie will mean a plethora of gold, from which no good will result. The high cost of exchange is explained in part by the unusual demand for it, in part by the risk of transporting gold and valuables across the high seas in wartime.

The Governments of the allied countries are now doing business on borrowed money. The outgo for conducting the war greatly exceeds income. They can hardly be expected to borrow continuously from their own citizens in order to do an all-cash business with the citizens of this country. It will have to be a part cash and part credit business.

In our foreign exports of nearly $2,500,000,000 last year, only a few millions represented munitions purchases. Most of it was represented by purchases of foodstuffs, clothing, machinery and other commodities for peaceful uses. Most of the proposed loan will go for supplies for the civilian populations of the three countries.

On whether or not we lend the cost of a couple of Panama canals depends the continuance of the huge export trade that is now so important a factor in national prosperity. If the bankers decide to make it, the smaller local banks through the country may properly, as suggested, take some part of it to represent the cash received by adjacent farmers and manufacturers from their sales abroad.

One year ago these banks were asked to subscribe to a gold pool to finance our expenditures abroad. Now they are asked to subscribe to a pool to finance our sales abroad. The change in 12 months is one of the most startling in financial history.

The ashes of the painter of the Mississippi have been strewn upon its waters. They are on their way to the broad sepulcher of the ocean.

THE AMERICAN'S FATHERLAND.

"For Americans there is no fatherland but the United States," declared ex-Congressman Edwin Denby at Fort Wayne, Ind. This is a sentiment which we may be sure will gain wide prevalence as time goes on. The war which will effect great changes abroad will be destined to cause changes only a little less important at home.

It will modify public thought in its attitude toward the requisites to naturalization and perhaps have results enabling the melting pot to do still more perfect work.

In Russia there are 140 races. In all these there should be many good runners.

PALM BEACH LIBRARY RULE.

A reader complains that he was forced out of the Public Library reading room by the rule of the directors that no man shall read there without wearing a coat.

This rule seems to be in the interest of the trade in Palm Beach suits. If you can afford such suits, you may read in comfort. Otherwise you will do your reading elsewhere. And as the poor man, on account of laundry cost, avoids the Palm Beach suit, he is the one affected by the coat rule.

You may go coatless into the stores, most of the restaurants and some of the churches. Also into saloons, pool rooms and gambling dens. And if you are a woman, you may enter the library and spend your time there in a garb that makes that of a coatless man, if he wears a shirt, look tame and orderly.

What is there about the Public Library that makes it shameful to be seen there without a coat? Do the young lady attendants object? If so, what about their sisters in the department stores and elsewhere? Or does the work of directing a library offend male directors? For it seems to be a sort of effeminacy to be horrified at a coatless reader.

With Berlin journals regretting Germany's "concessions," and certain German-Americans thinking Uncle Sam is afraid, the Bryan peace ideal may have to wait a little.

THE TRUTH FROM CONSTANTINOPLE.

Reports from Constantinople coming via Athens say that conditions in the city are most critical. Fuel and some kinds of food are very scarce and high. The military situation at sea is most unfavorable and heavy losses on land make it difficult to hold the line against the British and French. "The position of the Turkish force defending the Dardanelles is precarious," it is added, while popular dissatisfaction with the Turkish-German military dictatorship is rapidly increasing.

But reports from Constantinople sent via Berlin say that the situation of the allies on the Dardanelles, already precarious, will become more precarious with the fall storms. Turkish ammunition supplies, instead of running short, are furnished in abundance by a branch Krupp factory near the city. Practically nothing has been gained by the allies in weeks. The landing of food and munitions, already most difficult in calm weather, will become impossible in the rough seas that will be prevalent later. The evacuation of the peninsula is described as inevitable, but is discussed as presenting an insoluble problem under fire. The ruin of the allies is declared to be certain, whether they go or stay.

A public used to the discrepancies of the war press bureau will find it useless to try to reconcile reports so conflicting. It might as well accept both as true. Turks and allies both seem to be whipped. The logical end of the campaign will be one that will see the allies utterly routed and Constantinople surrendered.

GERMANY'S MAD FAITH.

How can the United States continue negotiations with Germany concerning the latter's lawless submarine attacks, on the basis of honor and self-respect?

This is the puzzling question which the Washington administration may be able to solve without severing diplomatic relations. It is difficult to see how it is to be done and nothing less than the extraordinary patience, skill and diplomatic resources of the President offers a hope of a satisfactory solution.

The German Government's promise of complete satisfaction for past wrongs and future conditions are rapidly vanishing into air. Treated with conspicuous fairness, courtesy and consideration; given every possible opportunity to revise its course and by reasonable reparation and sincere guarantees to retain our friendship, the German Government has continued to pursue, with regard to us, a policy which may be described as contemptuous, if not insolent, disregard for our rights, interests and feelings. The worst of it is that the German Government is contemptuous of her own assurances and pledges to us.

It is Germany, not the United States, that is on trial. The discredit and the responsibility for failure to maintain friendly relations, should the break come, will rest with Germany, which has repeatedly inflicted wrong upon us, even after assurance of satisfaction and amendment.

What can a nation do in self-respect with another nation which not only tramples on its rights but flouts the very pledges the offender gives of satisfaction and lightly repeats the offense?

There never has been a time since the Lusitania murder when a sincere attempt on the part of Germany to satisfy the United States would not have succeeded. But we search in vain for a sign of sincere desire to do anything but proceed on her chosen path of disregard for American rights, lives and property on the ocean. "Get out of our way" is the practical German answer to our protests.

We indulge the hope that President Wilson will find a way of peace, but as German actions define the German attitude, the hope becomes fainter.

"Ships that pass in the night" may be torpedoed.

ANOTHER LOST ART.

Consternation has seized the professors of the terpsichorean art. The limber-footed cabaret performer is about to kick them out of business.

At a heated meeting of the dancing masters in New York this week the situation is animatedly discussed. What can be done to hobble these agile interlopers, who are not only ruining the profession commercially, but likewise tarnishing its ancient dignity?

There was a time when their august opinions were respected. The world bowed to their classic judgment in regard to what was and what was not correct in this art. These good old days have passed. The dancing master can no longer authoritatively point his right toe out for the edification of his pupils, but must go through the contortion acts of every acrobat on the roof gardens to prove he is not a back number. Each day a new step is born, until he has been reduced down to a jumpingjack. The profession is growing unendurable.

Just what the convention will evolve is unknown, as it is still in session, but a dance including a double hand spring is likely to be the leading attraction of next season. Real dancing, as we used to know it, has been relegated to the limbo of lost arts with conversation and letter writing.

The fish and the dogs are biting.

THE EUROPEAN CHASM.

Beginning as a tiny but well developed crack at the end of June, 1914, when the Austrian Archduke and his wife were assassinated, a chasm has opened in Europe so wide and deep that it will take the utmost efforts of the entire world to close it. As to the apparent causes of this mighty rupture in human thought and action, the "Review of the War in Europe," in the World Almanac for 1915 is sufficiently illuminating. It shows just how the politicians brought about the war.

But as to what will stop it, perhaps the most convincing article yet printed is that of Ralph Pulitzer, in the Sunday Post-Dispatch, based upon a careful study of events in the warring countries and interviews with men and women of various ranks whose views have been crystallized by actual contact with the life and death struggle now going on.

Contrasted with the World Almanac "Review," this article shows that a new factor in any proposed peace settlement is now universally recognized. And that is that, in order to fill up the frightful European chasm, it will be necessary to throw into it, figuratively speaking, most, if not all, of the huge armament material now being manufactured and used for the purpose of wholesale slaughter.

In other words, to the proposals of the pacifists, all those on one side of the chasm whom we call the Allies give the unanimous reply that disarmament must be one of the essential conditions of any true peace. Disarmament, not only for the German-Austrian alliance, but for all the belligerents.

A Prince is quoted as saying, "After this taste of blood the world can never remain at peace while any powerful nation dedicates itself to the ideals and instinct of militarism. Germany, under the guidance of Prussia, is today such a nation." And a naval Captain added that France, at the end of the war, would be so burdened with its cost that, even if victorious, she must reduce her armament to a minimum or go bankrupt. To make this possible, Germany must be defeated.

That conclusion is undoubtedly shared by Germany, with reference to her enemies. So that today, we may safely dismiss the discussion as to the preliminary politics and cause of the great war. Between one side and the other, as in the vision of Dives and Lazarus, is a great gulf fixed. Its name is Militarism.

If Europe can be brought to the state of mind for a disarmament agreement, the war will not have been fought in vain.

THE NEWS FROM HOGWALLOW.

THE Tickville jail was closed Monday on account of a holiday.

Washington Hocks who has been keeping up with the war through the Saturday Blade and the Tickville Tidings, has mighty near lost all interest in it, and is again busy with his wife do the weekly washing at the pond.

As a strong supporter of the early approach of cold weather, Tom Hockley this week was noticed propping up his chimney.

Sim Flinders and several of his dogs spent the week-end at Tickville. Sim generally takes just one dog with him, but this time it was not feeling well, so he took the others along to assist in the fights along the road.

The Rye Straw store was entered by unknown persons Saturday night. The strongest evidence that it was the work of some well-dressed stranger and that nobody in this community had anything to do with it at all is the fact that nothing but a lot of socks are missing. Consequently the Deputy Constable is out looking for a well-dressed stranger wearing a pair of socks.

The Hogwallow Improvements Association should take up the matter of the tall weeds that grow around the post office. But, on the other hand, of course it is a fact, just as the postmaster contends, that everybody in this section that has any business at all with the post office knows where to find it, no matter how high the weeds get.

Foke Bazley spent most of Thursday on Gander Creek. But upon his return he reported bad luck during the day, the water having risen several inches and floated off his jug.—Hogwallow Kentuckian.

The Arson Trust did not have anything to do with the heat yesterday, did it?

Maybe the way to help the local Federal League players win the pennant is not to go out and look on. They seem to do much better when they are locked up in the park with the opposing team and nobody watches. It is quite natural that we should want to see how they do it, but if big crowds are to cost the team the pennant, as seems likely, we can stay away. We want the pennant, and we will make any sacrifice for it.

HAD TO HAVE A FAMILY.

A dog belonging to Sam Offot, living on the Ben Pixlee farm, east of town, having lost her puppies, went out one night recently and found a nest of four young polecats, which she carried to the house and has since mothered them most affectionately, being very jealous of her adopted family. They are pretty looking little animals, and seem as well contented as though with their own kind.—Liberty (Mo.) Tribune.

We are afraid that Mr. Barker is going to meet some political reverses, too.

SUMMER NIGHT, RIVERSIDE.

IN the wild soft summer darkness
How many and many a night we two together
Sat in the park and watched the Hudson
Wearing her lights like golden spangles
Glinting on black satin!
The rail along the curving pathway
Was low in a happy place to let us cross,
And down the hill a tree that dripped with bloom
Sheltered us
While your kisses and the flowers,
Falling, falling,
Tangled my hair.

The frail white stars moved slowly over the sky
And now
Far off, far off,
The tree is tremulous again with bloom,
For June is here.

Tonight what girl
When she goes home,
Dreamily, before her mirror, shakes from her hair
This year's blossoms clinging in its coils?
—Sara Teasdale, in the September Century.

In the wild hot summer subway,
What time I journeyed home from work, O Sara,
I read your verses free and fearless
As any barefoot girl in Arcady.
And I detained at One Hundred and Sixteenth street
And walked
One block west to Riverside Drive,
I sat upon a bench, avid for Adventure,
Athrill and overyearful for Romance;
And a girl came along,
And I thought of the blossoms clinging in the
coils of her hair
And I said: "Good evening."

She said: "You fresh guys ought to be arrested for mashing."
And so I sat there, senseful that Romance and such
Were not for me.
All that paid attention to me were mosquitoes;
And I went home, and dreaming before my mirror,
Anointed myself with Oil of Citronella.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

DATES.

K. W.—July 3, 1871, Monday.
BILL.—We have no record as to Dooley term school closing on Sunday. The dates are of no value, if the closings were farcical.

E. A. C.—Up to Oct. 1, 1893, ordinary letter postage to all foreign countries, except Canada and Mexico, was 5 cents, postpaid 2 days. This "Henry Shatt" died Sunday, Aug. 15, 1889, at 3:25 a. m., at his residence, Tower Grove, St. Louis, aged 80.

HEALTH HINTS.

ELIZABETH D.—Ask physician.
PRICE.—Pelvic pains in pregnant woman are common and are usually due to pressure. It is better for a woman in this condition to do as much suitable work as she can.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

BESSIE MILDRED.—Wet cloth in soft water and rub on plenty of soap and salt; then hang the garment in line in sun and air for days. This, it is said, will remove all mildew; no matter how fine or coarse the cloth may be, or if it be linen or cotton.

CORA.—Cut and plate glass: Alcohol and water constitute fine wash for cut or plate glass. Cleaning powders and polishing preparations scratch. A little ammonia or soda added to the water in which glass is washed adds to the luster. If warm water is used, dry at once. If cold, dry up under a box and polish with soft linen. Cut glass should be scrubbed with a soft brush and dried for half an hour in a box of sawdust free from resin. The sawdust should then be spread out to dry. It may be used again.

MO.—To make jelly jelly, teaspoon of tartaric acid to every quart of juice. There are two important points to be considered: The fruit must not be overripe and the boiling must be accomplished to a great extent before the sugar is added. Recipe for elderberry jelly, never known to fail. Put fruit over fire in acid-lined kettle; let heat very, very slowly. When berries are hot and broken remove from fire and squeeze through jelly bag. Measure juice and allow pound granulated sugar to each pint liquid. Return juice to fire and set sugar in shallow pans in oven to heat. When juice has boiled 15 minutes skin, add the heated sugar, stir until this has dissolved, bring to boiling point and take from fire. Fill glass jars while they stand in pan of hot water.

LAW POINTS.

SUBSCRIBER.—Place of business rented by the month must be vacated on a month's written notice from owner. E. D.—If you have been wronged by lawyer, see Bar Association, 185 Pierce Bldg. (P. Taylor Bldg.). As to any city institution, see Complaint Board, Municipal Courts Bldg.

E. A. L.—If the bank made a mistake and returned your check, having marked it "insufficient funds," you may sue for damages, but the Court might require evidence that actual damage to your credit resulted from the error.

MOTHER.—The law requires one month's written notice as part of tenant in terminating the tenancy, the same on the part of landlord, who is desiring possession. To make up a full month the notice should be served in a sealed envelope, post paid, and the day of delivery is the day the month has passed, thereby voiding the notice, unless the envelope is sealed full month, and necessitating giving another notice, being effective one month from succeeding rent day. However, the custom prevails to accept notice when delivered, or to wait, regardless of the legal side of the question.

WIDOW'S SON.—Law books (at law book stores) for beginner: (1) Parson on Contracts. (2) Bishop on Criminal Law. (3) Cooley on Torts. (4) Thompson on Domestic Relations. (5) Mechem on Agency. (6) Thompson on Corporations. (7) Dillon's Municipal Corporations. (8) Lindley on Partnership. (9) Washburn on Real Property. (10) Brantly on Personal Property. (11) Easton on Contracts. (12) Schouler on Bailments. (13) Hutchenson on Carriers. (14) Stevens' Common Law Pleading. (15) Washburn on Pleading. (16) Bishop on Equity. (17) Greenleaf on Evidence. (18) Redfield on Wills. (19) Cooley on Constitutional Law. (20) Daniels on Negotiable Instruments. (21) High on Extraordinary Legal Remedies. (22) Wharton on Criminal Law. (23) May on Insurance. (24) Wigmore's Legal Ethics.

MISCELLANEOUS.

C. N.—Sign writing is taught in evening high schools.

M. D. S.—In Red Bud, Ill., there are 2 Lutheran churches.

READER.—Minor of 18 may enlist in navy without parental consent.

ENR.—Hallowe'en, Sunday, Oct. 31. You may have your party on Saturday or Monday.

JEWELLER.—Diamond may be broken with a hammer or burnt with intense heat. Diamonds are used in cutting diamonds.

MANY THANKS.—Phone superintendent of water works for the gift of service 2 or 3 years. Pay is about the same in the various large cities.

C. B. A.—Jitters was for baseball messengers on Broadway, almost anywhere between Pine and Washington. Fare to Hamilton street, 5 to 10 cents. Night service may come higher. Fare to ball parks, 15 cents.

ARGUMENT.—The company lighting the streets (the city) is the one who pays the bills for the city. "Who pays the bills who light our streets?" "The city," you say. "How many are employed to light all the street lamps in this city?" "The city," you say. "How many are employed to light all the street lamps in this city?" "The city," you say. "How many are employed to light all the street lamps in this city?" "The city," you say.

REMEMBER.—The Camp Fire movement is the outcome of an effort to adjust the relation of woman to the great world which today awaits her. The wider circle of the home and the wider sphere of social, civic and national activity. The motto of the movement is: "The woman of the future is the woman of the present."

Camp Fire. Fire is the symbol; the watchwords are "Work, Health and Love," and from the two letters of each word is made the "mystic word or call"—"Wholeness." There are seven laws for the Camp Fire Girls: "Work, Health and Love; be happy; be true; be kind; be brave; be pure; be loyal; be true."

M. E. G.—Cement walk: Excavate a trench 20 inches below finished grade of walk, and where possible, 4 inches wider each side. Fill in trench with 15 inches of small broken stone or hard coal cinders. Then lay four inches of concrete, composed of one part seasoned Portland cement, three parts clean sand, free from loam, and mix the two dry until of uniform color; then add water and mix again to the consistency of mortar. Spread out to about six inches thick and then add five parts of clean sand, mix again to the consistency of mortar, and then add water and mix again until the whole mass is well incorporated. After ramming, lay a board across the trench and lay a board across the trench and lay a board across the trench.

Playing Politics

A game that must be indulged in "on the square" and with sobriety.

By George Elmer Cobb.

"DON'T do it, Dennis!" pleaded Mrs. Foley. "I've made up my mind. I've responded to his usual set and determined way. It's the call of ambition, woman! I've been humble and lowly too long. It's the chance of my life, and I'm going to take it."

"Aren't we well enough off, Dennis?" objected Mrs. Foley. "You've got a steady job. It's in a line you understand. Better to be foreman of the wash sewer and paying gang than some hifalutin position you may not be able to hold a year."

"I know my powers, woman; I know my powers. The new reform candidate is going to win, and if I stump for him he's promised me a better position."

Mrs. Foley sighed. They were humble folk. Dennis was uneducated, their little home was located in a poor section. But it was all their own and Dennis was a good husband and a kind father.

Their daughter, Nora, was earning a fair salary as a stenographer. She was engaged to an estimable young man, a budding architect and engineer. They were all looked up to in their own social sphere, humble as it was, because they were respectable. Once, in the far past, Dennis had been a drinking man, but that was long gone by.

And now came the break that worried and grieved the good housewife. Dennis was bent on breaking into politics. In vain Mrs. Foley pictured the downfall of Mr. Herndon, whose son, Sidney, was engaged to Nora. Politics had ruined the elder Herndon and he had died of broken fortunes and a broken heart.

Dennis went his own way. For two months he was away from home often until midnight. More than once he had come under the influence of liquor. He had mortgaged the little home to the full limit to obtain campaign funds.

"I will all come back, Mary," he declared ten times over. "My candidate is sure to win."

From Bad to Worse.

AND the day after the election, when his candidate had, indeed, won the cherished goal, he came into the house in a great state of drink and bluster.

"What did I tell you?" he crowed. "I'm appointed superintendent of the ward water department district at just double what I was earning before." Then, to the silent gnawing sorrow of Mrs. Foley, he was gone for two days. He did not come home at all during that period. Mrs. Foley learned that he was "celebrating" his accession to supposed power by wine and dining his faithful adherents. Her cup of misery seemed full to the brim when they brought him home on a stretcher one night. In a fight with his irritated political opponents Dennis had got the worst of it. They had beaten him up terribly. For a week he lay in bed mending up, in discomfort and pain, but by no means penitent or forgiving. "I'm just waiting to get back my strength to pay off the gang that downed me," he told his wife. "I'll show them!"

Dennis came home the next night, uproarious. A disorderly crowd composed of his adherents followed him to the door. They cheered him and made a great hurrah. Dennis made a maudlin speech in reply to their noisy congratulations.

Mrs. Foley, peering timorously from behind a curtain, discerned that the occasion memorialized some signal action against his enemies on the part of her husband.

She gathered from the exultant remarks of the crowd that the new water department superintendent had "put it over" on his adversaries. They chuckled, they gloated, and left their political leader to stagger into the house with the brags of some triumphant war hero.

He was too muddled to give a coherent explanation to his wife of the doings of the night. Early the next morning, however, a neighbor came over with the morning paper.

There it was all in type—the mad frolic of her husband. It appeared that he had braced himself up with drinks innumerable. Then he and his cohorts had started out on a wild campaign of retribution against their political foes.

Sent to the Workhouse.

WHAT Dennis had done was to fully assume the authority of the city water department. He had supplanted himself with the official water shut-off rod. One after the other, whether delinquent in the payment of their water tax or not, he had proceeded to turn off the hydrant supply from the street.

So drastic had been his action that one entire end of the ward had no water for 12 hours. The paroled, indignant victims of this official frolic had at once sent a committee of protest to the Mayor. It was after midnight when they reached that functionary. His action was summary. The newspaper announced the dismissal of the new water department superintendent from his official duties and Dennis was out of a job.

"Look at that, Gladys! Still wearing her furs, and cold weather almost upon us!"

Then Dennis Foley went to pieces. He became an idler, spending his time pastering his former political sponsors, haranguing crowds in his favorite saloon on the ingratitude of an unappreciative municipality. He neglected his family. A shrewd, tricky crowd involved him in a flagrant political conspiracy and all hands were sent to the workhouse for a year.

Mary visited him there weekly, but she had little to tell him that was comforting. Their little property had been foreclosed on. Sidney had married Nora and they had removed to a hustling little interior town, where Sidney had obtained a position. Mrs. Foley was sustaining herself by working as janitress in an office building.

Work and Forgetfulness.

THE day Dennis was released from prison he was amazed and embarrassed to have his son-in-law appear as the first one to greet him at the steps of the reformatory.

"Well, father," he said in a friendly way, "I hope you've seen the folly of politics."

"When you see me back at pickaxe and shovel," observed Dennis, "believe me that I have!"

"Oh, I fancy you won't have to go way back to that," smiled Sidney, slapping his contrite relative briskly on the shoulder. "If there's to be no more drinking!"

"Try me and see!" muttered Dennis between his set teeth.

"Then Nora and I have blocked out a fine future for you. They have appointed me business agent of the town where we live. They are going to put in water and gas and pave the streets. See here, you're an expert in those lines. How would you like to be my superintendent?"

There were tears in the eyes of Dennis Foley. All his wretched mistakes seemed fading away like a bad dream as he and Mary reached the train with Sidney. The old woman broke down utterly when their daughter welcomed them to her neat, hospitable home and Sidney pointed from the window to a lonely little cottage.

"See that house, father?" he inquired. "Well, it's furnished, a cow in the shed and a coop full of chickens, two years' improvements ordered for the town and all you've got to do is to work."

"And forget," murmured the grateful Mary softly.

The Height of Folly

Some New Recipes

Spiced Tomato Jam.—Pare and skin the tomatoes; do not soak; cut in half, the round way, squeeze out seeds; cut in quarters and to each quart of tomatoes take 2 cups of sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon ground allspice, ¼ teaspoon ground cloves and ¼ teaspoon ground mace. After removing seeds of tomatoes cover with sugar, sprinkle with salt, put over slow fire; bring to boiling point and boil slowly 1½ to 2 hours, that depending largely on the tomatoes. If they are watery it will take longer. Stir often, so it will not stick. Add the spices and fill into well-sterilized jars; seal at once.

Braised Tomatoes.—Cut large tomatoes in two, from side to side, not from top to bottom; place them on a grid-iron, the cut surface down; when well seared, turn them and put on butter, salt and pepper; then cook with the skin side down until done.

Cream Pie.—Pour a pint of cream upon ¼ cup powdered sugar; let stand until the whites of 3 eggs have been beaten to a stiff froth; add this to the cream and beat up thoroughly; grate a little nutmeg over the mixture and bake in two plas without crust.

Fish Salad.—Take left over fish, chop it, but not too fine; put with the same quantity of chopped celery or lettuce; season the same as chicken.

HOW TO REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT

A SIMPLE, SAFE AND RELIABLE WAY.

People who are over-burdened with superfluous fat know only too well the discomfort and ridicule that over-stout people have to bear.

If you are carrying around five or ten pounds of unhealthy fat you are unnecessarily weakening your vital organs and are carrying a burden which destroys the beauty of your figure.

There is no need of anyone suffering from superfluous fat. If you want to reduce your weight in a simple, safe and reliable way, without starvation diet or tiresome exercises, spend as much time as you can in the open air, breathe deeply and get from any good drug store a box of all of kerosin capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Wash yourself once a week so as to know just how fast you are losing weight, and don't leave off the treatment or even skip a single dose until you are down to normal.

Oil of kerosin is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps digestion and is designed to consume the excessive fatty tissues by breaking the carbon-carbon bonds of the blood. Even a few days' treatment should show a noticeable reduction in weight. Footstubs begin to lighter, your work seem easier and a lighter and more buoyant feeling being possession of your whole being.

Every person who suffers from superfluous fat should give this treatment a trial. There is nothing better—ADY.

salad; garnish with tender leaves of the heart of lettuce.

Yellow Sauce.—Yolks of 4 eggs, well beaten, with ¼ cup of sugar; add ½ cup water and ¼ cup lemon juice, mix well and stir it over the fire until it thickens.

Sauce of String Beans.—String the beans and boil them 1½ hour in slightly salted water, having the water boiling when the beans are put in. Drain, place on ice and serve when cold with a French dressing.

THOSE TOO DRUNK TO WALK TO JAIL MUST PAY $2 FOR RIDE
Alton's Handsome New Patrol Wagon Will Not Be Operated Free of Charge.
Gentlemen who get too drunk to walk to the police station in Alton hereafter will be required to pay handsomely for the privilege of being transported in Alton's handsome new patrol wagon. The fare will be $2 a ride, whether it is for one block or 10, but although it is somewhat in excess of the highest taxi rates in Alton, it is a perfectly comfortable ride and the ride perhaps will be worth the money.

The tariff was announced yesterday by Police Magistrate McGuire. Two men were before him charged with being intoxicated on the street. Their cases were parallel in every respect except that one was able to walk 10 feet and the other was not. The one who walked drew a fine of $5 and the one who didn't get 10 feet the magistrate charged the driver a fair charged charge for patrol wagon service.

DIPLOMATS WILL TAKE UP CARRANZA REPLY SATURDAY

Conferees to Meet in New York on Call of Secretary Lansing.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Secretary Lansing announced today that the Pan-American Conference on the Mexican situation which was to have been convened here tomorrow, will not be held until Saturday and that it will be in New York City.

The change in plan, he made it clear, was not due to any development in the general situation but to illness of one of the conferees.

No decision has as yet been reached by the Washington government as to the next step in the situation now that replies have been received from all the factional leaders, but the expectation is that after the next session of the Pan-American conference, a definite announcement of the program to be pursued will be made.

The Villa and Zapata factions sent favorable replies, but Carranza rejected the appeal and made a counter proposal that the diplomats meet him to consider international phases of the problem and his claim for recognition.

Some of the conferees, it is understood, favor accepting Carranza's proposition which, if adopted, would compel postponement of any conference in which the Villa and Zapata elements might participate.

In the last several weeks Carranza's armies have forced their campaign in Northern and Central Mexico. Villa representatives in Washington, however, contend that the houses by their forces have been greatly injured and that Carranza is making a desperate demonstration in the northern states aimed at impressing the Powers interested in pacification of the republic.

Villa's action in sending Don Gonzales Garza, Gen. Felipe Angeles and probably Diaz Lombardo, his Minister of Foreign Relations, to Washington, said it has been decided upon because of a probability of a conference over Mexican affairs.

Just how Carranza's suggestion that the Pan-American conference appoint delegates to confer on Mexico's international affairs will be worked out, is not apparent.

The battleships Kearsarge and Kentucky were ordered to Vera Cruz today to relieve the Louisiana and the New Hampshire, which join the Atlantic fleet. The Kearsarge and Kentucky now are at Philadelphia and will sail this week.

POST-DISPATCH RECORD OF MARKETS

The Jarr Family

Written for the Post-Dispatch
By Roy L. McCardell.

Mrs. Jarr Rejoices Tearfully as an Economical Spend-thrift.

"That's the truth," said Mrs. Jarr. "You're always willing to go some place, and yet you never want to take me anywhere!" This was her final summing up (for the time being) in the usual bi-weekly charges of cruelty and neglect.

"I've been asking you for a week if you wanted to go for a little trip somewhere—anywhere—and you know it," replied the exasperated Mr. Jarr. "If you did you were speaking only for yourself," said Mrs. Jarr, returning to the charge. "You didn't want me to go!"

"What did I ask you for, then?" asked Mr. Jarr.

"Oh, that was just your cute way of getting out of it," said the lady. "I never get anywhere. I never see anything. Other women have a good time and their husbands take them everywhere, but I can sit home and play the wallflower. Oh, well, I ought to be used to it by this time!" Here Mr. Jarr heaved a sigh as if to imply that, as bad as things were, the worst was yet to come.

"Who has a better time or goes to more places or sees more things than you do—that is, taking people of our modest means?" asked Mr. Jarr. "Everybody!" snapped Mrs. Jarr. "I could name you a dozen women whose husbands are nice to them and try to show them a good time; but what's the use? You don't want me to have any pleasures and you know it! I like to enjoy myself and I love to dance, too!"

"Yes, I do; you know I do," said Mr. Jarr. "Come, would you like to go to a dance hall and see some of the newest dances?"

"If I were like other women," continued Mrs. Jarr, as if to herself, "I'd be more thoughtful of I suppose I'm a fool to put up with it and not say anything. If I dressed conspicuously and fixed myself all up and made a show of myself, looking like a freak or something!"

Here Mrs. Jarr felt that, while her words were angry, they were rather vague as to her purpose. So she jumbled something to the effect that maybe he would be sorry when she was dead, and she dabbed her eyes with a handkerchief.

"I've asked you if you wanted to go to a dance hall," said Mr. Jarr. "Put on your things and let's go."

"Oh, go with your friends; you don't want me. You never seem to enjoy yourself with me. Let me stay home; I'm not wanted and I know it!" replied Mrs. Jarr.

"Come on, now," said Mr. Jarr with infinite patience. "Nix on the weeps!"

"What?" asked Mrs. Jarr.

"Oh, come on, and be a good fellow," said Mr. Jarr coaxingly.

Every woman wants to be a "good fellow," so Mrs. Jarr said. "Well, remember, I didn't ask you to take me, and she got ready."

"Now, don't let us be going some place that will cost us a lot of money," she suggested. "Just some jolly place where we can dance."

"Where do you want to go?" said Mr. Jarr. "Speak out!"

"I want to go home. You go ahead and enjoy yourself!" said Mrs. Jarr.

Mr. Jarr took her by the arm and led her up in front of the costliest place in town.

"Give me a table—best price!" said he grimly.
Mrs. Jarr faintly protested, but here she was seeing the big cabaret show and latest dances.
"Hello!" said a voice behind them. "You're one married man that shows his wife a good time!"
It was Jenkins, the bookkeeper. Mrs. Jarr regarded her husband with approval.
"If he had his way," she said, "we'd be out somewhere EVERY night!"

Three's Better'n Two.
A PUBLIC school teacher once put this question to her pupils:
"Which would you rather have—three bags with two apples in each bag, or two bags with three apples in each bag?"

"Three bags with two apples in each bag," was the surprising answer given by one lad, while the rest of the class was struggling with the problem.
"Why, Harry?"
"Because there'd be one more bag to bust!"

Don't Ever Let Anyone Tell You This as a New One.
"EPH, I hear you've become a benedict!"
"No, sah! Ah ain't nevah jined no lodges at all."

Still Ahead.
AMONG the passengers on a train on a one-track road in the Middle West was a talkative jewelry drummer. Presently the train stopped to take on water, and the conductor neglected to send back a flagman. An express train came along, and, before it could be stopped, bumped the rear end of the first train.

The drummer was lifted from his seat and pitched head first into the seat ahead. His silk hat was jammed clear down over his ears.

He picked himself up and settled back in his seat. No bones had been broken. He drew a long breath, straightened up and said:
"Well, they didn't get by us, any way."

That's Different.
FAINT heart never won fair lady, you know.
"Nonsense! I know a man who's got four million dollars and a weak heart, and all the girls are just crazy to marry him."

Here's a New Way.
ONE day Mary noticed that the engagement ring, of which Margaret had been so proud, was missing from the latter's finger.
"I say, Maggie," she exclaimed, "what's become of your ring?"
"I've hidden it," replied the other girl, calmly.
"Hidden it! Whatever for?"
"Well, George has seemed rather lukewarm to me lately, but so long as he isn't sure of getting that ring back he won't break off the engagement."

One More Was Enough.
PRECOCIOUS OFFSPRING: Pa, may I ask just one more question?
Patient Pater: Yes, my son. Just one more.
Precocious Offspring: Well, then, pa, how is it that while the night falls, it's the day that breaks?

Envious.
YOU say she treats you like a dog?
"I don't say anything of the sort. When I see how she treats that Boston bull of hers, I wish she would."—Judge.

Sought to Appease Her.
THEY were giving a big dinner, and the coachman had come in to help wait at the table. Several persons had suffered from his lack of experience, and in serving peas he approached a very dear old lady and inquired:
"Peas, mum?"
No answer.
"Peas, mum?" (louder).
The old lady saw that someone was speaking to her, and she lifted her ear-trumpet to the questioner. The coachman, seeing the large end of the trumpet directed toward him, thought:
"It must be a new way of takin' 'em, but I s'pose she likes 'em that way." And down went the peas.

Reason Enough.
BEEN on your vacation yet?
"No, the people next door haven't returned from theirs yet."
"Well, what in the world does that have to do with it?"
"Oh, nothing much, only they borrowed our trunk before they started and sent for our golf sticks and tennis rackets afterward."

How Could They?
JONES never had a thing to say about that last fishing trip of his did he?
"No. You see, he really caught a lot of fish and he's afraid to tell anyone for fear they won't believe him."

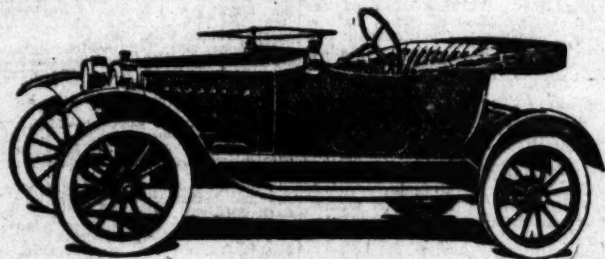

Something Alike.
JONES has a lot of friends since he bought a car.
"Yes, and he's just beginning to find out that they're a whole lot like the automobile. The initial cost isn't a circumstance compared to the upkeep."

So Friendly.
THE women who called just because they couldn't get out of it were met at the door by the maid.
"My mistress is taking her beauty sleep," she said.
"How long does it take her?" asked one of the women.
"Oh, less than half an hour," she looks it," said the other woman in a whisper to her friend. Then they left their cards and trotted along.

WHAT became of Peter the Great, father?
"Why, he died in the regular order of things."
"How about Richard, the Lion Hearted?"
"He turned up his toes, too!"
"Did Ivan the Terrible escape?"
"No. He took the count like the others."
"But, father, surely William the Conqueror beat the game."
"Not by a jugful. When he played his last chip he was through, too."
"Well, father, looking at it all from a purely selfish standpoint, a plain simp doesn't seem to run so many risks, so I'll be all right."

SAXON ROADSTER $395

"Cool as a Saxon"

Saxon ability to keep cool sets a new standard among low-priced cars. Folks used to say, "cool as a cucumber." Now they say, "cool as a Saxon." Saxon honeycomb radiator is the finest type—with large cooling surface—efficient under all conditions.

In the hottest weather—under the most gruelling usage—Saxon keeps cool. Its motor never overheats. Its radiator never boils.

You can drive 130 to 150 miles in a day—without stopping—and still your Saxon will refuse to overheat. Its cooling system—engineers say—is perfect.

Saxon takes you anywhere you want to go—at less expense than any other car made—half a cent a mile. A gallon of gasoline carries you 30 miles; a quart of oil, 150 miles.

Why not enjoy life more and increase your efficiency by buying a Saxon? Come in today.

High speed motor, 15 h. p., sliding gear transmission; Timken axles; vanadium steel cantilever springs. (Electric starting and lighting system $50 extra.)
